WOMAN SAYS SHE CAN SHOW LETTER

Alleged to be From Head of Cooperage Company.

Nina May Stone Tells About Her
Sixty Thousand Dollar Damage
Suit and Graduation.

NO ONE HERE BELIEVES TALE.

New York, Sept. 10.—Nina May Stone, the pretty young woman calling herself an actress, who left one hotel yesterday and went to another for a reason, which the management of first will not discuss, announces she has brought suit for $60,000 against Joseph D. Hollingshead, millionaire, and head of the cooperage and stove trust who has business interests in Paducah and is well known in West Kentucky.

Miss Stone alleges that she has love letters in which she ardently is addressed as "My Dearest, Dearie Dear," and in which she says, plans are eloquently outlined for a honeymoon trip around the world with "My Life's Cloudless Sunshine." She claims she is just graduated from dramatic school and is about to go on the stage.

A telegram sent to a local paper from Chicago, says John D. Hollingshead is at Colorado Springs with his invalid wife.

His son says the family never heard of Nina Stone, and that her suit simply is a case of blackmail.

Joseph D. Hollingshead, of Chicago, is president of the Paducah Cooperage company. He bought out the late J. L. Kilgore. His son Harry Hollingshead until recently lived in Paducah. Harry Hollingshead is one of the officials of the cooperage concern. Both he and his father are well known in Paducah. J. D. Hollingshead bears an excellent reputation both in his business and private life and local business associates and intimate friends incline to believe the woman is engaged in a scheme to blackmail Mr. Hollingshead.

FINE HORSES

COMING FROM MURRAY TO THE PADUCAH SHOW.

Calloway County Has Some Blooded
Stock, Which is Battered By the Big Event.

"Around-Murray everybody is interested in the Paducah horse show," said E. H. Haley, of that place.

"Murray expects to take a few ribbons and things back home as trophies of the occasion," he continued with pride. "Calloway county has some fine horses, and I believe the Paducah horse show last year had an appreciable effect, not so much directly on the horse market, as on the quality of animals. I think a census would show more fine stock in the county than last year. It is my opinion that the Paducah horse show will affect the breed in the whole of southwest Kentucky."

WAR TO KNIFE.

McClellan Will Fight Both Murphy
and Hearst.

New York, Sept. 10.—There is to be no compromise between the mayor and Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. Compromise is impossible, even in the face of the possibility of the nomination of W. R. Hearst at Buffalo. So far as the mayor is concerned, it is to be war to the knife on both Mr. Hearst and Mr. Murphy, and this war is to be carried to the floor of the state convention. The mayor will do all in his power to have delegates chosen at the primaries and district conventions favorable to William T. Jerome, and he believes that New York county will vote for the district attorney in the convention. All this was made clear today. The mayor spent the entire day at his home, No. 10 Washington Square, North.

FALL CARNIVAL OPENS ITS GATES

Twelve Big Shows at The League Park.

Mount Pelee Eruption, Wonderful
Spectacle, Secured as the Free
Attraction.

FIRST EXHIBITION TONIGHT.

Once more, and, perhaps, for the last time—certainly under the most unique conditions yet the voice of the speller will be heard in Paducah tonight.

Out at the ball park, where everybody can get a seat to witness the free attractions, the Fall Labor carnival will open its doors, and right here a word of explanation is due. It was the intention of the management to charge no general admission fee, but in their efforts to out do all predecessors they found themselves involved to the extent that a nominal admission fee is necessary.

However, the ten cents charged at the gates entitles the visitor to witness the biggest attraction ever present outdoors in Paducah, it is claimed—the Mount Pelee eruption. For two days a corps of fifty men have been engaged in erecting the shows, and they will be busy all day today, but tonight they will have finished in time for the opening.

Over 12,000 feet of lumber is used in the construction of the booths. There are a dozen shows including the two big ones. The free show, Mount Pelee, and the San Francisco disaster.

It is claimed for the Mount Pelee eruption, that mechanical devices, and modern fire works have been combined so that a spectator actually is enabled to form some conception of the awful grandeur of the volcanic spectacle. Paducah has had no big fireworks exhibition this year and this attraction will be a treat to the populace.

This exhibition will be given in such a manner that it can be witnessed from the grand stand, and people can watch it from the seats, then go down the "pike" and return whenever they desire, the general admission ticket giving them this privilege all day and all night, as long as the carnival keeps open.

Excursion rates have been offered on all railroads and many labor organizations will attend during the week. Wednesday is the special Labor Day and the steamer Butteroff will bring an excursion from as far as Dover, Tenn.

HOT AFTER OMAHA ICE TRUST.

Mayor Dahlman Gives Out Warning
of Drastic Treatment.
Omaha, Sept. 10.—The fight of the people of Omaha on the ice trust was taken up today by Mayor Dahlman in his usually vigorous style when he issued a signed statement as a notification to the ice companies that high-handed tactics would not be tolerated. "Hereafter," says the mayor, "when people complain of being short-weighted on ice and file a complaint the same will be prosecuted without cost to them, and if the seller is convicted and then refuses to furnish ice to the people that make complaint, if they have the money to pay for it, and will telephone me, I will instruct the chief of police to send a policeman and take charge of the driver, wagon and ice."

Is Believed.

Superintendent Said Schools Started

ASSIGNMENT OF TEACHERS.

Miss Ernestine Alms, who formerly taught in the primary department is filling the vacancy in the English department of the high school. Miss Alms specialized in English and is a capable instructor.

Superintendent Lieb said this morning: "I have my hands full in the office today and cannot give any estimate on the attendance. We are getting started more quickly this year and with less confusion than last year. We have conditions better in hand and a closer organization. I think that accounts for it. Everything is running smoothly."

WOMAN SAYS SHE CAN SHOW LETTER

Alleged to be From Head of Cooperage Company.

Nina May Stone Tells About Her
Sixty Thousand Dollar Damage
Suit and Graduation.

NO ONE HERE BELIEVES TALE.

New York, Sept. 10.—Nina May Stone, the pretty young woman calling herself an actress, who left one hotel yesterday and went to another for a reason, which the management of first will not discuss, announces she has brought suit for $60,000 against Joseph D. Hollingshead, millionaire, and head of the cooperage and stove trust who has business interests in Paducah and is well known in West Kentucky.

Miss Stone alleges that she has love letters in which she ardently is addressed as "My Dearest Dearie Dear," and in which she says, plans are eloquently outlined for a honeymoon trip around the world with "My Life's Cloudless Sunshine." She claims she is just graduated from dramatic school and is about to go on the stage.

A telegram sent to a local paper from Chicago, says John D. Hollingshead is at Colorado Springs with his invalid wife.

His son says the family never heard of Nina Stone, and that her suit simply is a case of blackmail.

Joseph D. Hollingshead, of Chicago, is president of the Paducah Cooperage company. He bought out the late J. L. Kilgore. His son Harry Hollingshead until recently lived in Paducah. Harry Hollingshead is one of the officials of the cooperage concern. Both he and his father are well known in Paducah. J. D. Hollingshead bears an excellent reputation both in his business and private life and local business associates and intimate friends incline to believe the woman is engaged in a scheme to blackmail Mr. Hollingshead.

COMING FROM MURRAY TO THE PADUCAH SHOW.

Calloway County Has Some Blooded
Stock, Which is Bettered By the Big Event.

"Around-Murray everybody is interested in the Paducah horse show," said E. H. Haley, of that place.

"Murray expects to take a few ribbons and things back home as trophies of the occasion," he continued with pride. "Calloway county has some fine horses, and I believe the Paducah horse show last year had an appreciable effect, not so much directly on the horse market, as on the quality of animals. I think a census would show more fine stock in the county than last year. It is my opinion that the Paducah horse show will affect the breed in the whole of southwest Kentucky."

WAR TO KNIFE.

McClellan Will Fight Both Murphy
and Hearst.

New York, Sept. 10.—There is to be no compromise between the mayor and Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. Compromise is impossible, even in the face of the possibility of the nomination of W. R. Hearst at Buffalo. So far as the mayor is concerned, it is to be war to the knife on both Mr. Hearst and Mr. Murphy, and this war is to be carried to the floor of the state convention. The mayor will do all in his power to have delegates chosen at the primaries and district conventions favorable to William T. Jerome, and he believes that New York county will vote for the district attorney in the convention. All this was made clear today. The mayor spent the entire day at his home, No. 10 Washington square, North.

WEATHER—Fair tonight and Tuesday. The highest temperature reached yesterday was 90 and the lowest today was 70.

Last Tuesday Miss Curtin, who had been employed for a year, as stenographer in the office of the People's Light, Heat and Power company, obtained permission from her employers to be absent Wednesday. She said she wanted to go to Cincinnati for the day. Nothing was heard from her until this morning, when the mother superior telephoned Mr. Curtin that his daughter was in the convent.

LANG PARK

WILL BE IMPROVED BY PARK BOARD WITHOUT DELAY.

Will Meet This Afternoon and Arrange for Securing Bids on Contract for Work.

Lang park is to be improved and made attractive without delay.

The board of park commissioners will meet at city hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon to consider plans for beautifying the circle, and will let the contract for the work as soon as possible.

The fence will be torn away and the weeds cut as the first necessary move toward improving the public tract. A concrete wall a few inches high probably will be built.

The commissioners have other individual schemes which they will consider.

What little money has been appropriated for park purposes must be spent this year, if at all.

consin for Neglect of Belmont.

TO THE BOTTOM

TWO MINERS PLUNGE IN SHAFT AND ARE KILLED.

Engineer Starts Cage Up Instead of Down and Seven Jump Out—
Three Hundred Feet.

Mount Pulaski, Ill., Sept. 10.—Charles Cox, and Charles Fultz plunged 200 feet to the bottom of Mount Pulaski Coal mine this morning and were killed. Seven miners entered cage to descend to work. The engineer reversed the engine and by mistake the cage started upward instead downward. Five men jumped at the landing and were saved. Cox and Fultz missed and fell to the bottom of the shaft.

JUST IN TIME.

Reinforcements Arrive to Save Government Train.

Havana, Sept. 10.—The government armored troop train which left Havana Friday jumped the track east of Consolacion del Sur. The train was surrounded by several hundred insurgents commanded by Pino Guerra in person and sustained fire all Saturday night and until 9 o'clock this morning. The train would have been captured but for the timely arrival of Col. Avalos and 400 men, who fought their way through from Consolacion del Sur.

Twelve Big Shows at The League Park.

Mount Pelee Eruption, Wonderful
Spectacle, Secured as the Free
Attraction.

FIRST EXHIBITION TONIGHT.

Once more, and, perhaps, for the last time—certainly under the most unique conditions yet the voice of the speller will be heard in Paducah tonight.

Out at the ball park, where everybody can get a seat to witness the free attractions, the Fall Labor carnival will open its doors, and right here a word of explanation is due. It was the intention of the management to charge no general admission fee, but in their efforts to out do all predecessors they found themselves involved to the extent that a nominal admission fee is necessary.

However, the ten cents charged at the gates entitles the visitor to witness the biggest attraction ever presented outdoors in Paducah, it is claimed—the Mount Pelee eruption. For two days a corps of fifty men have been engaged in erecting the shows, and they will be busy all day today, but tonight they will have finished in time for the opening.

Over 12,000 feet of lumber is used in the construction of the booths. There are a dozen shows including the two big ones. The free show, Mount Pelee, and the San Francisco disaster.

It is claimed for the Mount Pelee eruption, that mechanical devices, and modern fire works have been combined so that a spectator actually is enabled to form some conception of the awful grandeur of the volcanic spectacle. Paducah has had no big fireworks exhibition this year and this attraction will be a treat to the populace.

This exhibition will be given in such a manner that it can be witnessed from the grand stand, and people can watch it from the seats, then go down the "pile" and return whenever they desire, the general admission ticket giving them this privilege all day and all night, as long as the carnival keeps open.

Excursion rates have been offered on all railroads and many labor organizations will attend during the week. Wednesday is the special Labor Day and the steamer Butteroff will bring an excursion from as far as Dover, Tenn.

HOT AFTER OMAHA ICE TRUST.

Mayor Dahlman Gives Out Warning
of Drastic Treatment.

Omaha, Sept. 10.—The fight of the people of Omaha on the ice trust was taken up today by Mayor Dahlman in his usually vigorous style when he issued a signed statement as a notification to the ice companies that high-handed tactics would not be tolerated. "Hereafter," says the mayor, "when people complain of being short-weighted on ice and file a complaint the same will be prosecuted without cost to them, and if the seller is convicted and then refuses to furnish ice to the people that make complaint, if they have the money to pay for it, and will telephone me, I will instruct the chief of police to send a policeman and take charge of the driver, wagon and ice."

Mr. Brocklebank, who is vice president and general manager of the Manufacturers' Paper company, was returning from the funeral of his wife. With him in the machine were Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Whitney and their two daughters. Sawdy was charged with running the machine 19 miles an hour. The case will be heard September 12.

LEAGUE SEASON COMES TO AN END

Paducah Loses Last Games and is Close to Bottom.

Prospects of Professional Ball in Paducah Next Year Are Dim and Doubtful.

Yesterday's Scores.
Paducah, 6; Mattoon, 2.
Vincennes, 1; Calro, 0.
Danville, 7; Jacksonville, 1.

Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 10.—The Kitty league's fourth season came to a glorious end in this city Sunday—that is so far as the Mattoon-Charleston combination was concerned. The remnant of Chief Lloyd's once great and powerful tribe of Paducah Indians was at the mercy of the locals from start to finish. They wound up a series of about the most disastrous flock of losses possible, being unable to win a single game from the tail-enders. As a result they are only one place from the bottom, the identical place they were in at the finish of the race for the flag in 1903.

King Platt pitched a splendid game for the Indians, but the bad fielding behind gave Mattoon two runs and enough by that many to have won twice. Jokerst, for Mattoon, finished his first season in the Kitty by pitching a steady shut out game. The few hits secured by the Indians were widely scattered and only two of the redskins reached third base.

The largest crowd of the season at the local park witnessed the last game of the year.

The score: R H E
Paducah 0 6 5
Mattoon 2 2 0
Batteries—Jokerst and Johnson; Platt and Taylor.

One to Nothing at Hoosiersville.
Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 10.—The locals won the last game of the season yesterday afternoon by a score of 1 to 0. The game was well played and the crowd was large. The Hash-slingers were in good trim but out-classed, and notwithstanding the fact that the pennant was already the property of the locals, the visitors played a good game. Jacksonville has three games yet to play but Calro has second place "cinched."

The score: R H E
Calro 0 2 2
Vincennes 1 3 1
Batteries—Johnson and Quiesner; Perdue and Mattison.

Danville Whips the Jacks.
Jacksonville Ill., Sept. 10.—The visitors hit Fox at will and won in a walkover from the locals yesterday.
The score: R H E
Danville 7 10 1
Jacksonville 1 3 3
Batteries—Delby and Hayworth; Fox and Belt.

L. A. L.'s Win.
The L. A. L. baseball team defeated the Metropolis team yesterday in a closely played game.

The score: R H E
L. A. L. 3 4 1
Metropolis 2 5 3
Batteries—Block and Brahl; Hall and Doyle.

Feature of the game was the home run by Taylor, of the Metropolis team.

Saturday's Games.
The score: R H E
Paducah 1 6 0
Mattoon 7 12 1
Batteries—Miller and Taylor; McCarthy and Johnson.

The game was forfeited Saturday to Jacksonville, Danville refusing to play after a decision in the ninth when Copeland was called safe at the plate, this tying the score.

The score: R H E
Vincennes 3 7 1
Calro 0 3 3
Batteries—Chenault and McClelland; Hatch and Quiesner.

No Team Next Year.
The question of whether Paducah will have a league team next year is one that is troubling the fans and from indications Paducah will not be a member of any league.

This morning several representatives of the Paducah Baseball association stated that the chance of Paducah being in a league next season is doubtful. This season the Paducah management lost between $3,000 and $4,000 and stuck the season through, because the men behind the gun did not want to give up and be termed "quitters."

"It looks doubtful," said Mr. A. R. Meyers, who has conducted the affairs of the Paducah baseball club this season for the association, when asked about the outlook. "The association has lost money but stuck it out because the men had gone in for the sport. I think I can say that the present members will not stand for a non-paying investment next year."

The report that the Paducah Traction company will continue the sport is erroneous, the company having no desire to take it up.

TROUBLE GALORE

Follow Failure of Baker to Meet Obligations Promptly.

Because it is alleged he failed to pay $4.50 in cash which he had borrowed but a few hours before, Joe McMahon had a warrant issued against Lester Park for obtaining money by false pretenses.

Park is a well-known baker working for the Krentzer company. He had wages coming to him and so informed McMahon, when he made the "touch" Sunday. Park it is said, failed, to procure his money and did not pay the debt. McMahon appeared before Magistrate C. W. Emery, acting for Police Judge Pur-year in the latter's absence, and took out the warrant. Park claimed that he told McMahon he had money coming to him and that all his representations were true. Following the warrant issued by McMahon, C. W. Meacham of Third and Clark streets, swore out a warrant against Park charging him with attempting to defraud him in the payment of his board bill. McMahon and Park board at the same place.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 10.—Acting under the provisions of the act of the general assembly, in regular session, providing for the holding of a farmers and industrial institute in each county of the state annually Agricultural Commissioner Hubert Vreeland has announced appointments for the holding of such meetings in nearly every one of the one hundred and nineteen counties of the commonwealth. Only those were left out of the schedule that could not be reached at this time, and meetings will be arranged later for them. Under the statute the meetings must be of two days' duration, and the holding of them will consume the time from September 21, when the first institute will be held at Brandenburg, Meade county, until December 20, at Carlisle, Nicholas county.

For convenience the commissioner has divided the state into four Farmers' Institute districts to be known as Western Institute district, Central Institute district, Eastern Institute district, first division, and Eastern Institute, second division. The meetings will open in the several districts simultaneously.

In addition to the regular schedule special institute meetings have been arranged by the commissioner. One of these will be held at Paducah in October, and another at Lexington the latter part of that month. In conjunction with the meeting of the Kentucky state grange. Still another will be held at Maysville during the annual tobacco fair of northwestern Kentucky and in the counties of Jefferson, Henry, Franklin and Shelby, on dates not yet arranged.

Among the well known lecturers on agricultural matters whose services he has obtained are P. G. Holden, of Iowa; Alva Gree, Joseph E. Wing and J. T. McIntyre, of Ohio; Moses F. Johnson, of Jefferson county; J. R. Walker, of Christian county; Lowell Roubush, of Ohio; J. P. Davis, of Indiana, and R. C. Cronshaw, of the state department all of whom, under the administration of Mr. Vreeland, have assisted in institute work and are well known to the agriculturists of Kentucky.

Special Meeting Announced.
Under the provisions of the new agricultural statute each of the county institutes held will elect one or more delegates to a state Industrial Institute, to be held at Frankfort or some other convenient place between the first day of January and the first day of March next year. At this state meeting each county shall have one vote, and at this meeting there will be elected two members, from appellate districts, of the state board of agriculture. Forestry and Immigration for a period of four years, to fill vacancies occurring by the expiration of the terms of two of the members appointed by the governor immediately after the adoption of the legislative act.

Adath Israel.

Louisville, Sept. 8.—Elaborate and imposing services marked the ceremonies of dedication by which the members of Adath Israel congregation celebrated the completion of the beautiful temple which adorns Third avenue near its intersection with Library Court. The services began last evening, and Sunday morning further celebration of the event, which marks an epoch for the congregation, now one of the most powerful in America, takes place. Today many prominent rabbis from all parts of the country arrived to take part in the services, which will thus be an air of national importance. The erection of the temple at a cost of $150,000 and the prominence of the congregation have combined to make the event one that has attracted more than casual attention. The doors of the temple will open one hour before each service, and admission will be strictly by ticket, as the seating arrangements are such that to other method will prove satisfactory. The temple will hold 1,350 people, and it is safe to say that every seat will be taken at each service.

This is Rabbi H. G. Enelow's congregation.

Lost $500.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 10.—A. O. Lock, a popular traveling man whose home is in Hopkinsville, lost $500 Thursday night in a Pullman sleeper on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, while en route to Clarksville. Mr. Lock left his berth in the sleeper for a few minutes, it is said, and when he returned his money was gone. There is no clue to the thief, but officers are working on the case. Mr. Lock came to this city last night. He stated that he would bring suit against the Pullman company for the recovery of the money.

Petrified Roses.

Mayfield, Ky., Sept. 10.—Mr. J. T. Coleman, living on Rural Route

No. 7, brought to our office Thursday, some beautiful specimens of petrified roses imprinted on rocks. The outline is so distinct that it looks as if a master artist had made it. It was found five feet under the ground and is supposed to have been there hundreds of years. Some of the roses were full blown and some look to be buds.

An important matter to be considered next Thursday by the interstate commerce commission, under the new rate law, will be the problem of export cotton rates. The commission's decision will set a precedent that may very materially decide whether or not the new law is to be a success.

Republicans in mass conventions in the Sixth district named delegates to the district convention to be held Monday at Covington, Ky., and in nearly every county the delegation was instructed to support William F. Schuerman in his candidacy for the nomination.

ITALIAN TOBACCO

Will Be Bought This Year by T. J. Stahl.

Mr. Thomas J. Stahl, of the firm of Stahl & company, has again been awarded the Italian Regie contract for this district and it means the buying of about $200,000 worth of tobacco for the next year by the Paducah tobaccoist. The Regie contract has gone to Mr. Stahl for three successive years. It is let annually by W. G. Dunnington and Joseph Ferligo, who are the contracting agents for the Italian government in this country. The latter was in Paducah a week ago to receive proposals and the Paducah contractor received word of his success yesterday by wire from Mr. Dunnington.

FOR DEVELOPMENT OF COMMONWEALTH

Fifth Convention Will Meet at Winchester.

Seventy-Two Counties are Enrolled and Feature Will Be Report
From Each.

PROGRAM OF THE MEETING.

Attention of leading farmers and business men of the state is now being attracted to the fifth state development convention to be held at Winchester October 10, 11 and 12. The committee in charge of the arrangements at Winchester is working hard in preparing for it, and are enthusiastic over the prospect of an excellent program and a large attendance.

The program will include six business sessions. The convention will be called to order at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday, October 10, and there will be an evening session that day. Thursday morning the delegates will go on an excursion to Beattyville, as the guests of the Winchester Commercial club, where some of the eastern Kentucky coal mines and lumber plants near there will be visited, lunch be served by the citizens of Beattyville, and a short business session held. Returning to Winchester, an evening session will be held that day, and on Friday and Saturday evening, the last day, three sessions will be held.

Senator William Lindsay, of New York, has accepted an invitation to act as chairman of the convention.

A feature of much interest on the program is that of the roll call of counties. Seventy-two counties responded in the roll call at Louisville, and the committee expect to have more responses this year. Each county judge in the state has been asked to select a man in his county to prepare a statement, to be used on the roll call of counties, setting forth county statistics in answer to the following questions: 1—In what does your county excel? 2—What does your county need most? 3—What is its labor supply, and what wages does such labor command? 4—What factories and other industries have you? Give the capital employed, extent of business number of employees and amount paid in wages.

The information thus furnished to the convention will be compiled and given wide publicity throughout the United States to attract to Kentucky capital seeking investment.

This matter is one that should not be overlooked in this county. It is an excellent means of advertising our resources and desirability as a location of such industries as we need, and of bringing before the public what we have and what we want. Men throughout the country who are seeking investment read the literature of such bodies as the state development convention, and a good, strong statement from our county will be of much value to us. We want other people to know us and to know what we have.

FORECAST OF WEEK.

Tuesday will be held the convention of the Independence League of New York state in New York city. The session probably will continue two days. The league will nominate a full ticket, the sentiment, however, being divided as to the wisdom of placing an entire ticket in the field. It is regarded as certain that William R. Hearst will be the candidate for governor.

The Democrats of Connecticut will hold their convention at Hartford Tuesday. It is expected that Charles F. Thayer, of Norwich, will be nominated for governor and John M. Ney, of Hartford, for lieutenant governor.

On the same day will be held the California Democratic convention at Sacramento.

The Maine state election will be held today. The leaders of both parties are uncertain to an unusual degree and many surprises are looked for. The Republican leaders are quoted as admitting that, largely because of the so-called Sturgis liquor law, the state ticket probably will not have a plurality exceeding 11,000. For nearly a decade the Republican plurality has been 65,000.

Wednesday the Prohibitionists of Maryland will meet at Laurel, also Wednesday the graduation exercises of the Naval Academy will be held at Annapolis.

The national convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen at Milwaukee will be held today.

The Republican Ohio convention meets Tuesday. Interest centers in the fight against Senator Dick as chairman of the state convention.

FARMING IS CHANGING.

It Is Coming More and More to Be An Attractive Business.

The character of farming is changing rapidly. It is coming more and more to be an efficient, profitable, and attractive business. With here and there an exception, in the past we have not given much consecutive thought to the business—nothing like as much as the merchant gives to his business or the doctor to his. It has been so "easy" a business that untrained men could succeed in it. The change in economic and social conditions is breaking up the tradition. Farming is becoming more difficult, and the old methods must go. In the future only the well-informed and efficient thinking man can succeed; that is, only the educated man.

The country is to offer other advantages to the educated man than merely to be a good farmer. There are good opportunities for leadership on public questions—probably better opportunity and with less competition than in the great cities. The very fact that city representation is increasing in the legislatures should make the able country representative more of a marked man. The growth of the institute movement, of the grange and other rural organizations gives fresh opportunity to develop leadership of a higher order.

It seems to me that, by the very nature of the progress we are making, the college man must go to the farm. In fact, college men have been going back from the beginning of the agricultural education movement. Statistics show that a very large percentage actually have returned to farming, and this in spite of the fact that cities have been growing with marvelous rapidity, and that the whole system of agricultural colleges and experiment stations has been developing and calling for men. Considering the limitations under which the agricultural colleges have developed, without sympathy, with the indifference and sometimes the opposition of educators—the very men who should have known better—with wholly inadequate funds, it is little less than marvelous what they have accomplished within a generation. It is probable that the proportion of students of the leading agricultural colleges who now engage in agricultural pursuits is greater than students of that of colleges of law or of other professional colleges who follow their chosen profession. No one now questions the value of education to a lawyer or physician; why question its value to a farmer? The educated man will go back to the farm if he is fitted to be a farmer.—Century.

AMERICAN TOBACCO GROWERS' PROFIT

Cuban Revolution Comes at Right Time.

Cost of Running Government Printing Office Is Six Million Dollars Annually.

THE NON-RE-FILLABLE BOTTLE.

Washington, Sept. 10.—"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," says an old saw; and while slaves of My Lady nicotine the world over have just cause to regard the insurrection in Cuba with fear and trembling, American tobacco growers in the sunny south are likely to reap a rich profit in consequence. A moment more deadly in its effects on the tobacco industry could not have been chosen for the uprising. Some of the choicest tobacco in the world is raised in the Pinar del Rio province of Cuba, where the revolutionists are holding forth with an earnestness which makes it impossible for the tobacco growers to attend to the now fully ripened crop. A few days more and it will be hopelessly ruined. Last year's crop was short because of heavy rains in the island, which not only ruined the unharvested crop, but rendered large areas of the finest tobacco lands unfit for tillage. This fact accounted, in a large measure, for the very satisfactory prices received for the American product. Reserve supplies were very much depleted, and if the present Cuban crop is not forthcoming at the proper time, prices for domestic grades are likely to go sky high. The situation is viewed with particular anxiety by Washington cigar manufacturers and dealers, whose trade demands the finest qualities of tobacco in large quantities. Much of this comes from the famous Vuelta Abajo district, and if the insurrection should extend to that province, the results are too dire for contemplation. Very little tobacco from Cuba has been received by local manufacturers this year, and they declare that all appeals for a fresh supply are in vain.

Cost of Printing.

If talk be cheap, then the records of the government printing office—the largest printing establishment in the world—show the exception which proves the rule. Approximately $64,000,000 a year are required to run this immense plant, which is now taking advantage of the summer recess to catch up with its one job of printing congressional talk and the government records and documents. The most important items of cost are coal and gas, which amount to some $30,000 a year; but even the seemingly most trivial supplies account for thousands of dollars in the grand total. About 40,000 pounds of common book ink are required for ordinary work, besides thousands of pounds of job ink, embossing varnish and many special makes of ultramarine, poster red and label inks for the finer work; and it takes nearly 200,000 towels and 12 tons of soap to remove the surplus ink from the hands of the employees. The laundering of the towels alone costs $3,500 a year. About 3,000 barrels of sawdust are used every year, chiefly in keeping spittoons in a sanitary condition. Fifty thousand pounds of glue, 200 barrels of flour, $3,000 worth of thread, 35,000 pounds of twine, $50,000 worth of cotton and book cloths are some of the other items of expense. More than four tons of glue, 30 barrels of flour, 60,000 yards of cloth, five carloads of binders' board, a ton of thread, 36,000 yards of tape and $5,000 worth of gold leaf for ornamenting the very simple cover design, the consumed by a single publication—the famous year book of the department of agriculture.

Named for President.

So many honors are thrust upon a president of the United States that some jealous individuals have declared that Mr. Roosevelt had no occasion to seek additional fame at the hands of the simplified spelling board. In support of this contention, they cite that botanical marvel, the Roosevelt gourd, sure to perpetrate his memory for all time, and the recently discovered Roosevelt trout, which undoubtedly allowed himself to be discovered a few days ago only that he might be named after the president. A still later honor is a consignment of 92 varieties of orchids just received from the Philippine and placed in the president's private collection of these rare plants, which now completely fills one of the large hothouses in the government propagating gardens. The consignment numbered 702 plants, very few of which will be lost. Accompanying the shipment was a list of the names of the plants, which has not yet been printed as a public document; but it is confidently believed that "Roosevelt" is one of them.

Non-Refillable Bottle.

The patent office has just issued papers, which, it is said, will convert from a longcherished dream to an existing reality, the non-refillable bottle. Next in number to those who devote their time to perpetual motion machines come the would-be inventors of a bottle that can't be refilled, which is much in demand among liquor dealers who do not relish the idea of low grade goods being sold under their labels. There are, of course, hundreds of patents asked every year for alleged non-refillable bottles which never pan out. The one in question, however, which is somewhat complicated with valves, floats and the like, is said—by the man who invented it—to be all that has been sought after.

STRONG CANDIDATE.

Judge James Breathitt Mentioned for Governor.

Hon. James Breathitt, of Hopkinsville, is in the city today en route to Smithland to attend court. Judge Breathitt is favorably mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for governor. He is one of the finest orators in the state and has an excellent judicial mind. He was on the circuit bench for a term. He is considered by many as west Kentucky's strongest candidate for the Republican nomination.

THE PARENTS' DUTY.

An early morning rap at bedroom doors that have been undisturbed all summer long; a hasty word of warning; suppressed excitement in the home; an unwonted stir on the streets; war-whoops and childish laughter at the noon hour, and the presence of a multitude around a grim-looking building, that has stood silent and lonesome since late in June—school has opened.

The September procession has begun.

Sad looking boys with "shining morning faces;" long-legged girls with new ribbons in their hair; first termers with big red apples for teacher; pleasant faced school ma'ams, fresh and bright from their summer studies—all go up to the school house.

Father goes down into his pocket.

But he does it with, perhaps, the most commendable expression of any of them. He doesn't count. He is supporting the school and the teacher and the boy and the whole system;

but he is only glad that after the clash of personal desires and the wrangle of factional discord, the Paducah schools are open with a full complement of teachers.

The question is now, after they have seen who will teach their children this year and have purchased the books and sent the children off in the morning, will the parents take any further interest in the schools?

How many will visit the rooms where their children spend half their childhood, the work-shop where their children's minds are shaped, and make the acquaintance of the instructor, investigate the sanitary conditions under which their children exist during these school hours; meet the superintendent and principal and show to everybody connected with the schools that they take as much interest in the care and keeping of their children as they do in the care of their horse? No man in Paducah would turn his horse over to a living stable keeper without frequently making personal investigation the condition of the stable.

There are many ways in which the parents can help the teacher. In the first place they can train the children properly before sending them to school. They can see to it that the children study, and by interesting themselves just a trifle in those studies, ascertain how the children are getting along.

There should be complete harmony between the home and the school room, and the reasonable demands of the teacher should be enforced at home. This can only be perfected by the parents meeting the teacher, superintendent and principal often and acquainting themselves with the system of teaching.

There is no doubt that the parents will be met more than half way.

COL. WATTERSON ON DREAMS.

The Courier-Journal likens Bryan's

"public ownership fad" to Tom

Johnson's "amiable fancy" about single tax—a flick on the disk of a most luminous and practical intellect," and adds that, "Tom Johnson would make a first-class president."

"Iridescent dream" is another description of this monumental folly of the "Peerless," given by Henry Wat-tersson, who continues with, "Imprudent but impractical, a real threat to no living thing, a needless superfluity, hurtful, perhaps, to Bryan, as a candidate, and to the Democratic party."

At the end of his side-step, Col.

Wattersson regains his feet and says something. Bryan's "public ownership fad is hurtful to no living thing," because—it is hurtful to Bryan as a candidate, and to the Democratic party. So hurtful is it that Bryan never will have a chance to use the influences and power of the executive department to foist

this "iridescent dream," this "amiable fancy," this "flick on his intellect," this "imprudent but impractical" scheme on the United States.

Editors all over the country delight in a rough and tumble exchange of blows with the doughty editor of the Courier-Journal, and Col. Wat-tersson probably never before in his career stationed himself so fairly in front of an antagonist with his guard down, as he did when he endorsed Bryan before the "Peerless" made a speech. Col. Wattersson's reach is long, but his legs are short.

He is accustomed to standing square up to his antagonist, exchanging blow for blow. When he side-stepped this time he lost his balance. It was not necessary for him to go to the length of endorsing Tom Johnson for president in order to square

Bryan.

The executive chair of this great nation is not a comfortable thing to dream in.

Again The Sun finds itself on the winning side. The Sun took sides with no party in the unfortunate factional fight in the school board, except the side of the Paducah public schools, and spoke only when it was apparent that the interests of the schools were being lost sight of in the desire to triumph. The Sun all along has called on the members of the board to get together, elect teachers for other positions and arrange some plan for settling the English department muddle. That finally was done, but it might have been done sooner.

Paducah finished the Kitty league season four numbers from the pennant, and three numbers from the consolation prize. Early season games robbed the home team of any chance to figure in the race for last place. Perhaps a post season series with Mattoon might settle some doubt, or would it be post-mortem.

If Deboe et al had dared the fates and not headed off the nomination of a Republican candidate for congress, we, of the First district, might at least have enjoyed the fun of smoking out Ollie James on the question of government ownership of railroads.

Governor Folk, of Missouri, is reported to be too ill of slow fever to participate in political demonstrations, but in view of Bryan's dis-approaching visit to St. Louis, his disease has more the appearance of a chill.

The Cuban congress has been called in extra session to meet the present crisis in the republic. This call will necessitate the presence of most of the insurgent generals at the capitol.

According to the government report the only wages that have not been relatively increased in proportion to the number of hours employed in the last decade are the wages of sin.

Bryan got back at those Illinois

Democrats by repudiating their endorsement, but he didn't score them any harder than they scored him by sustaining Sullivan.

Elevator Allowance.

A hearing on the matter of elevator allowances by various railroads will be held in Chicago on the 17th instant by the interstate commerce commission. The hearing is likely to develop some important features.

ville and Kuttawa today on business.

A beautiful flower may grow by the wayside. One person may pass it by and not even see it, or he may trample it under foot and call it an ugly weed; another may see the very same flower, and as he looks upon it, marvel at its beauty and recognize the handiwork of God. One of these persons has no love for the beautiful in his soul and the other has, that is the only difference.

Corporal Manuel Teulet interposed for the purpose of separating the belligerents and was shot in the head and instantly killed. SENSATIONAL SERMON

Preached in Nashville by a Baptist Minister.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 10.—In a sensational sermon at the Central Baptist church last night, Rev. Geo. A. Lofton, a leader among Southern Baptists, went after the dance, the theater, the slugger, the race track and football. The theater he said, had always belonged to the devil, especially so in modern times. The modern slugger match is only a relic of barbarism, and is unquestionably of the devil. The race track was characterized as "the dirtiest place on God's green earth, and football as one of the craziest of the times." He thought football was an invention of the devil.

Short Leaf Pine Lumber.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 10.—A number of lumber men in this city today in conference declare that the ruling out of short leaf pine lumber in northern and eastern states has caused millions of feet of lumber to be piled in those cities, unsalable even at $3 and $5 per 1,000 feet under regular prices. As a consequence at least 1,000 mills in Georgia, Alabama and Florida are affected, many of which will close unless there is a revocation of the ruling. It is believed here the drastic measure is in the interest of spruce pine manufacturers.

TRYING TO BURN HOUSE OF RIVAL

Charge Made in Police Court Against Lena Jackson

Had Fight Saturday Night With Mat- tie Martin—Matches and Coal Oil.

BUSINESS OF POLICE COURT

Lena Jackson had a fuss with Mattie Martin, and because Mattie got the better of the argument Lena attempted to cremate her Sunday morning, according to the story of the latter. The case was brought in to prominence in police court this morning but continued until all witnesses can be had. Both are colored.

Both women reside on Washington street and the trouble arose Saturday when the women fell out over a trivial matter. The Martin woman claims that Sunday morning Lena was seen with four matches and a half-gallon of oil trying to set fire to Mattie Martin's house.

The matches were found all right and the wall bore evidence of having been saturated with coal oil.

Other cases: John Alley, colored, charged with prowling about the premises of Frank Lee on the Mayfield road, continued; Mary Thomas and Katie Calhoun, colored, charged with using obscene language in public, former fined $25 and costs and latter held to the juvenile court, being under 16 years; Theobald Peters, charged with selling liquor without a license, continued; S. S. Howell, disorderly conduct, dismissed; Worth Holcombe, disorderly conduct, bond forfeited; Aleck White, colored, stealing $2.60 from A. Rosenthal, held over to the circuit court; Mrs. Lou Charly, disorderly conduct, continued; Frank Just, Thad Williams, breach of peace, continued.

Rescue of a Merchant.

A prominent merchant of Shongo, N. Y., J. A. Johnson, says: "Several years ago I contracted a cough which grew worse, until I was hardly able to move around. I coughed constantly and nothing relieved my terrible suffering until I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. Before I had taken half a bottle my cough was much better and in a short time I was entirely cured. I surely believe it saved my life. It will always be my family remedy for colds." Fully guaranteed; 50c and $1.00 at all druggists. Trial bottle free.

Alleged Liquor Cases.

Today Magistrate Charles W. Emery is examining witnesses to see if Pale Ale or any intoxicants were sold near Wallace park on Labor Day. It is alleged that Wes Flowers and Will Greek, who conduct refreshment stands near the park, are guilty of selling intoxicating liquors without a license. About thirty witnesses have been summoned.

Torture by Savages.

"Speaking of the torture to which some of the savage tribes in the Philippines subject their captives, reminds me of the intense suffering I endured for three months from inflammation of the kidneys," says W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me. "Nothing helped me until I tried Electric Bitters three bottles of which completely cured me." Cures Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Blood Disorders and Malaria; and restores the weak and nervous to robust health. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

A barge will be used for the showboat, by adding a house to it. A want ad is in the "Tips" column of today's paper for a coal barge. The towboat and showboat are expected to be complete within six weeks and in the cold weather the boats will go to the south, coming north in the spring. It is the first showboat ever started out of Paducah. They seem to be popular and probable as three were at the city wharf this summer.

REV. I. M. VARBLE CALLED TO PULPIT

Pastor Secured For The New Christian Church.

Mechanicsburg Congregation, Organ- ized in February, Ready to Take Up Work.

REV. CALVIN THOMPSON HERE.

At a business meeting called last night, after the regular evening service, the officers of the Mechanicsburg Christian church, Clements and George streets, called the Rev. I. M. Varble, of Westport, Ky., to the pastorate of that church. The Rev. Varble preached two trial sermons at this church yesterday and made a good impression on the congregation. He is a pleasing speaker and makes friends quickly and no doubt will greatly develop the church. In about two weeks he will bring his family here, from Westport, Ky.

Mechanicsburg Christian church was organized early last February, and although Sunday school and communion have been held regularly, no pastor has been had, although preaching services were held occasionally by visiting ministers.

First Baptist.

After a several weeks absence, the Rev. Calvin Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist church, filled his pulpit yesterday morning and evening. Large congregations were present at both services. In his evening service he made a plea for a closer study of the Bible. The service was somewhat shorter than usual, owing to the warmth of the weather.

Evangelical.

Regular services were held at the German Evangelical church yesterday by the pastor, the Rev. William Bourquin, in the morning, and by the Rev. J. G. Scheuber, of Chicago, in the evening. Next Sunday no services will be held at this church.

Trimble Street.

The Rev. W. W. Armstrong filled the pulpit at the Trimble Street Methodist church yesterday, large audiences being present. A special service will be held at this church next Wednesday evening by Bishop H. O. Morrison, of New Orleans. The bishop is a pleasing speaker and no doubt a large audience will greet him.

IS NIAGARA WASTEFULNESS?

A New York state assemblyman says that Niagara Falls should be "utilized" till it is perfectly dry, and be allowed to flow over the cliffs on Sunday. He says that it is better that this should be done than the water "should forever run to waste."

Along with our sense of disgust at the mentality of a man like this we can well profoundly regret that one of nature's greatest works has been placed in the keeping, even in part, of a man who is so absolutely lost to all the finest considerations of life, says the "Pittsburg Index."

Wasted! It is indeed a strange view of many of our fellowmen that everything which cannot be turned into money is wasted. For them there need be no blue in the sky, no sun, no stars, no flowers, no birds, no mountains, no music, no literature, no cathedrals, no art, nothing but shops, offices and dividends.

The Liberal leaders in Cuba continue to demand far more than the government is willing to concede as the price of peace. Meanwhile hostilities are virtually suspended, no fighting being reported beyond a skirmish near Camarones, in which the government forces were routed.

The Bath Comedy

By AGNES and EGERTON CASTLE

Authors of "The Pride of Jennie"

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY EGERTON CASTLE

"Look out a bean, nay, two or three, 'tis safer! Talk discreetly with them in the pump room, let them fan you at the ball, let them meet you in Orange Grove. Or, if you have not spirit enough, start but an imaginary one, merely for the use of your lord and master. I wager you be will rise to the fly."

She pushed Lady Standish before her as she spoke, herself rang the call bell for the firewoman and gave a few pregnant suggestions to that worthy, who advanced all sour smiles and disapproving dips. Then she strolled back into the drawing room and paused a moment as she slipped on her long gloves. Next she drew a letter from her pocket and began to read it with a thoughtful frown.

"No, no, Sir Jasper," she said half aloud. "You're a fine gentleman and a pretty fellow, you have a neat leg and an eloquent turn of speech, but I will not have the child's heart broken for the amusement of an idle day."

She took the letter between all little forefinger and thumb as if to tear it, thought better of it, folded it again and thrust it back into its place of concealment.

Presently she smiled to herself, and walked out of the long open window across the little strip of garden, and so through the iron gate into the shady back street.

CHAPTER II.

SIR JASPER STANDISH halted on the flags of the royal crescent in front of his own door and his face darkened.

He took a pinch of snuff.

"Now, I shall find my lady in tears. What strange world it is! The girl you woo is as merry as a May day; the wife you wed is like aught but early November—equinoctial gales and water enough to drown the best spirits that ever were stilled. 'Tis a damp life," said Sir Jasper, "and a depressing."

He signalled as the door was thrown open by the footman and crossed the hall into the morning room, where he had left his lady weeping. He beheld a flowered bracelet, a very shapely back and a crisp powdered head outlined against the window and thought he had come upon a visitor unwares.

"I crave thee thousand pardons," quoth he, and swept from his gallant head his knowing three cornered hat. But slowly the figure at the window turned and he saw his wife's eyes strangely brilliant over two pink cheeks, beneath the snow of her up piled hair.

"Julia!" said he in amazement, and stared and stared again. "And did I doubt my own taste?" thought he to himself. "Why, she is the prettiest woman in Bath!" "Expecting visitors, Julia?" He smiled as he spoke. In another minute that arm, shining pearl-like from the hanging lace of her sleeve, would be round his neck, and those lips (how red they were, and what a curve!) would be upon his. Well, a loving woman had her uses.

"No," said Lady Standish to his query. She dropped the word with a faintly scornful smile, and a dimple came and went at the corner of her lip. There was a patch just above the dimple. Then she turned away and looked forth into the still, solemn, gray and green crescent as before.

Sir Jasper stood bewildered. Then he put his hat upon a table and came up to his wife and placed his arm round her waist.

He glanced down at the tapping shoe, its little pointing toe and curving heel. "Twas a smart shoe, and bonneted a diamond buckle in a knot of rose colored ribbon."

Sir Jasper took her hand.

"It wants," said he, "full half an hour to dinner time, love. Nay, do not draw your hand away. You are vexed with me? I left you weeping. 'Twas unkind."

"Weeping?" said Julia, and her heart fluttered to her throat so that she could hardly speak, and Kitty's maxims kept dancing before her eyes as if written in letters of fire. "Make him jealous—oh, if you make him jealous you will win the rubber yet!"

"If I wept," said she, "must my tears have been for you?"

"How now?" said Sir Jasper, and dropped the little hand that struggled so gently yet determinedly to be free.

Lady Standish trilled the bar of a song and directed her attention to the view of the crescent outside.

"Julia," said her husband in a deep voice.

"Sir?" she said, and tilted her little head.

"Who then were your tears for if they were not for me? What signify these manners? What do these insinuations mean? By Jupiter, I will have the truth!" His face flushed, the veins on his temples swelled, his nostrils became dilated.

"I would rather," she said, and her voice shook. "I would rather you did not question me, Sir Jasper." Then she flashed upon him in anger, swift and lovely as he had never seen her flash before. "You go your own way free enough," she said. "These last three weeks you have not spent one evening in my company, and half your days are given to others of whom I know nothing. Oh, I am not complaining, sir! I did complain, but that is over. I was wrong, for I see adversity have their advantages." Here she smiled. Had the man but known how near she was to tears! "Your neglect leaves me free."

"Free?" cried Sir Jasper, and choked. He broke out with a fearful oath and almost leaped upon her.

Passing along the railings opposite the crescent, not twelve yards distant, a tall, slender young gentleman of attractive appearance, though very dark in complexion, caught sight of her lovely, glowing face, stared first in unconscious admiration, then with recognition and finally, blushing, swarthy, saluted with some appearance of agitation. Lady Standish, aware that her husband had approached close behind her and hearing in every creak of his satin coat the flattering emotion of his senses, felt herself driven more and more by the unknown demon of mischief that had taken possession of her. She fluttered her little handkerchief back at the young gentleman with a gesture that almost indicated the waiting of a kiss.

"Death and damnation!" cried Sir Jasper. "Before my very eyes!"

He seized her by the wrist and flung her down upon the settee. "Nay," he cried, "there may be husbands that would put up with this, but I am not of them! So that is the comfort! That is the bean for whom you pink your self with such fine feathers, whom you lie in wait for at the window to make signals to and smirk at! Oh, my innocent country daisy! Fudge! I might have known you were too fond—hypocrite!" He dashed at the window and burst its fastenings.

"Hey, you, you, my Lord Verney! A word with you!" Sir Jasper was already foaming at the mouth.

The slim gentleman paused, surprised.

"Oh, heavens!" cried Lady Standish. "What have I done? Sir Jasper! My husband!" She threw herself upon him.

"Let me go, madam!" He thrust her aside and, bareheaded, dashed down the stairs and out of the house toward Lord Verney, who, with a bashful yet a pleasant smile, began to retrace his steps.

"'Tis a fair day, Sir Jasper," said he courteously and then became aware of Sir Jasper's convulsed face and noted that Lady Standish, whom but a moment before he had beheld all smiling beauty, now clung despairingly to the window post, her countenance ghastly behind her rouge. Lord Verney was a shy young man.

"Stand—stand, Lord Verney. Lord Verney, a word with you!"

The youth stopped, wheeled round, and "I am at your service," said he. A certain pallor had replaced the ingenious young blushes upon his cheek, but into his eye there sprang a fine spark of spirit.

Sir Jasper marched upon him and only halted when his six feet of slinky bulk were within a yard of the strapping willow shape. His hot red brown eyes shot fire and fury, death and annihilation upon the innocent young peer. His full lips endeavored to sneer, but rage distorted them to a grimace, through which his white teeth shone forth ferociously.

"Come, come, we understand each other," said he. "Will you walk with me? There is no time like the present, and a couple of friends are easy to come by."

"'Tis vastly well," said Lord Verney, with an attempt at dignity that betrayed the boy in every line of him. Then all at once color flushed into his face again, and his rigid demeanor was broken up. "Come, direct take it all, Sir Jasper," said he, "and what is it about?"

Sir Jasper threw bloodshot eyes upward.

"This fellow," quoth he, appealing to heaven, "oh, this pretty fellow! You want reasons, my Lord Verney?"

Lord Verney blushed and stammered. He'd like to know what he had done. He was at Sir Jasper's disposition, of course, but before drawing swords on a man—Sir Jasper uttered a sound which was between a groan and a roar. He indicated with sweeping gesture the figure of Lady Standish.

"I know," I tell you! Let that suffice," she strained in anguish, watching, clinging still to the window post. Then he hissed:

"I know!"

"I know, I tell you!" repeated Sir Jasper. "Let that suffice."

"Good heavens," gasped Lord Verney, "here is some most grievous mistake."

take! Do you mean, sir—am I to understand, Sir Jasper—'Tis monstrous!" White dismay and crimson confusion chased each other across his candid brow. "Surely you do not mean me to understand that Lady Standish has any connection with this extraordinary scene?"

Sir Jasper's trembling hand was furiously uplifted, then blindly sought his sword hilt and then dropped in impotent disgust at his side.

"My lord," said he, "Lady Standish is the pearl of womanhood. I would have you know it! There never breathed a female more virtuously attached to her husband and her duty—I would have you know it!" His face was quite horrible to look at in its withering sarcasm. "My quarrel with you, sir, is—"

He paused and cast a roving eye upon the young gentleman, who now began to show unequivocal signs of fear. A jealous husband, a confiding man that lady have to be me any day—but a reviling man!"

"'Tis the shape of your leg that mispleases me, sir. You have a vile calf I cannot endure that so offensive an outline should pass and repay my windows."

"I understand, Sir Jasper; yes, yes," said Lord Verney soothingly, backing as he spoke and casting nervous eyes round the empty street. "And so good morning." He bowed and turned.

"Rat!" cried Sir Jasper, and shot forth a clutching hand.

"I will bear it in mind," cried Lord Verney. "Good morning, good morning!"

He was fleeing away on a swift foot. "Rat! Rat!" screamed the enraged baronet, starting in pursuit. But his passion made him clumsy. He stumbled, lurched, struck his foot against a stone, fell upon his knee and rose in another mood; one of darkness, sullen determination for revenge.

Lord Verney was a timid young man. As the day grew, however, he began to have a curious recollection of Lady Standish's lovely smiling greeting and of that little gesture with the white handkerchief, which had almost seemed like the blowing of a kiss (here his very ears would grow hot, then of Sir Jasper's inexplicable wrath, and of the stricken figure by the window! Could it be? 'Twas impossible! When the dusk fell he made up his mind and sought the counsel of that fashionable friend who was kind enough to pilot his inexperience through the first shoals and rocks of Bath life. This gentleman's name was Spicer. He called himself captain; of what regiment no one knew.

CHAPTER III.

SIR JASPER came striding back to the house. In the morning room he passed his wife with out a word.

Ten minutes later he sallied forth again. She heard his steps ring out; they sounded very desperate. She sat on the pink striped settee for a misery too deep this time for tears. How puerile, how far away, seemed the morning's storm! She sat with her hands locked and her eyes starting revolving terrible possibilities and fruitless plans for preventing them. "Dinner was served in vain. Her ladyship's woman brought her a dish of tea. This poor Julia drank, for she felt faint and weary. Then a sudden thought struck her.

"'Tis Mistress Bellairs who made the mischief," she thought; "now she must mend it." She dashed off a despairing note to the lady and dispatched her black page with all possible celerity.

I have followed your advice—ran the quivering lines—to my undoing. You told me to make Sir Jasper jealous; I tried to make him jealous and succeeded far too well. He fancies there is something between me and Lord Verney. Poor young man, I have spoken to him but three times in my life! There will be a duel, and they will both be killed. Come to me, dear Mistress Bellairs, and see what is to be done, for I am half dead with fear and anguish.

The dusk was falling when, with incredible celerity, the sedan chair of Mistress Bellairs rounded the corner at a swinging pace. Her bell-like voice might be heard from within rattling the chairmen with no gentle tone or their sluggishness.

In a storm she burst open the door at a whirlwind tore through the passage. Lady Standish's obsequious footmen she flounced upon one side. Into that afflicted lady's presence she burst with undiminished vigor.

"So," said she. "These are fine goings on! And why Lord Verney, may I inquire?"

"Oh, Mistress Bellairs," ejaculated her friend, with a wail. "'Tis indeed terrible. Think of Sir Jasper's danger, and all because of my folly in listening to your perilous advice!"

"Come, come," cried Mistress Bellairs, heedless of the presence of footmen with tapers and lady's maid with twinkling curl paper. "Sit up this minute, Julia, and tell me the whole from the beginning. It is no use your trying to extenuate, for I will know all that has happened."

Republican Campaign Text Book Issued—Party Record in the Platform This Year.

"HOME CAKE IN THE PANTRY"

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—The Republican party's achievements for half a century and particularly its record in the present congress, is commended to the voters in a campaign text book out today by the Republican congressional committee.

The book contains 273 pages, and is replete with Republican doctrine, embracing practically every subject upon which information may be desired. Radicalism or conservatism, it declares, are never matters of concern to Republicans. As they are content with practical and progressive deals and the maturing of those deals into positive performance.

Every statement made and all figures printed are declared in the foreword of the book to be official or authoritative. The book calls attention to the fact that since 1885 the house of representatives has been Republican and adds "there is every reason to expect that a substantial working Republican majority will be elected next November."

Only Democratic success, it is declared, can prevent the giving to the people of the country a new record in every phase of our industrial life.

A list of 23 instances of important Republican legislation follows, beginning with the homestead law, signed by Lincoln. Then follow extracts from speeches, remarks and messages of President Roosevelt on various matters, various statistics, and the railway rate law in full.

The keynote of tariff question is sounded in the following statement:

"The protectionists do not claim he schedules are sacred and are never to be altered. They do claim, however, that the so-called American system of protection, as exemplified by the Dingley law, for nine years, sacred and must be maintained."

After quoting the letter of President Roosevelt dated August 18, to Watson, analyzing the issues of the coming campaign, the book closes with a quotation from Speaker Cannon's new platform: "Put none but one cake in the pantry."

"TWO TWINS OF TERROR."

This is the Startling Title of Barnum & Bailey's Bicycle Thriller.

In its search for sensational novelities the Barnum & Bailey circus management seems to have surpassed all previous records this year. Instead of one "thriller" of an ultra-sensational character, several are announced, and to what is declared to be the best all-round circus that this big arena organization has ever offered the American public. One of the newest sensations—and one that seems to have created a great deal of interest in other cities where the big show has been seen this season—is known as the "Two Twins of Terror."

A description of the two climaxes in this startling act disclose some unusually interesting features. After performing a number of novel and unusual exploits upon their wheels, one of the Boiler Brothers, the darling bicyclists who perform the "twirls," takes his station, mounted on a wheel, on a small platform at the higher end of a runway. When the signal is given, the rider and the higher end of a runway. When into the air, turn a complete aerial somersault; land on a second runway, and go speeding down to the ground. This, however, is not all. The other brother takes a position, mounted, at the end of a teeter-board, thus depressing it. The first rider ascends to the apex of a high pedestal, placed over the other end of the see-saw. When all is ready rider and bicycle drop with terrific force upon the near end of the teeter-board, sending the other bicyclist flying into the air. The latter also turns a somersault and, landing safely, speeds down the track. Both exploits are sensational in the extreme, and the furore they create is tremendous.

The Art of Handling Men.

Business men often fail because they do not know how to handle men. They can do their own work all right, but they are failures when it comes to directing others. They lack tact, diplomacy.

Many men antagonize others; they lack patience, lose temper, fly to pieces over little things. And no man is a good leader who cannot control himself.

A great many business men seem to think that it takes a deal of driving, scolding, fault finding to get the best out of others. It is, however, just the opposite. Employees never give up their best in response to forcing methods.

I know a young man who promises to be a leader in his line who is as quiet and gentlemanly in his methods as a modest woman. He never raises his voice, never gets angry. When an employee needs correcting, instead of scolding or nagging, he sits right down and shows him or her just how to do the thing. He tries to help them out of their difficulty, not to confuse them. He does not need to scold, because everybody respects him, admires him, and knows he is always trying to do the fair thing, to give a square deal, that he wants only what is just and right, and there is nothing arbitrary in his methods.

The result is, he does not need to storm around his establishment and use abusive, profane language. He knows there is a stronger force, a better way than that. The result is that he has perfect discipline.

Not one would think of taking advantage of him or try to deceive him, because he is so kind, square, true.

I know another man in business nearby who adopts just the opposite method. He storms and swears, scolds, nags, goes through his establishment like a bull through a china shop, making everybody feel mean and disagreeable. Nobody respects him. He rules by brute force, keeping everybody cowed and afraid of him. They obey him and let him impose upon them in order to avoid a scene, or for fear they will lose their positions. If an office boy or stenographer makes a little mistake he will go all to pieces, fly into a rage, and make it very uncomfortable for everybody about him.

People waiting in the outer office often hear loud talking and most abusive language in his private office. But he is not nearly as successful as his quiet, unobtrusive neighbor.

He never thinks of recognizing one of his employees on the street. The other man always lifts his hat to the humblest girl in his employ, and has a pleasant smile for everybody, because he feels an interest in everybody and they all love him.—Success.

Yellow Journal English.

One of the New York Sun's bright young men, noting the frequency with which certain words appear in sensational newspapers, has compiled the following helpful glossary:

Bandit—Any person guilty of crime against property for which the penalty is more than ten days in jail.

Boudoir—Any bedroom the rent of which is more than $1.50 a week.

Burly—Adjective always applied to a male negro.

College Girl—Any woman who has ever gone to school.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated, especially for women who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve-line, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases, "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, protracted illness of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN

Diseases of Woman's Organism Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It seems as though my back would break." Women utter these words over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, "bearing-down" pains, nervousness and no ambition for any task.

Miss Maude Morris

They do not realize that the back is the mainspring of woman's organism, and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the female organs or kidneys, and that the aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily cures female and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.

"I have suffered with female troubles for over two years, suffering intense pain each month, my back ached until it seemed as though it would break, and I felt so weak all over that I did not find strength to attend to my work but had to stay in bed a large part of the first two or three days every month. I would have sleepless nights, bad dreams and severe headaches. All this undermined my health."

"I consulted an old family physician, who advised that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it regularly and soon found that I could sleep and feel better than I had done for months. Within two months I became regular and I no longer suffer from backache or pain."—Miss Maude Morris, Sec. Ladies' Aid and Mission Society, 25 E. Hunter St., Atlanta, Ga.

He will also have charge of the window displays, a line of work in which he has achieved notable success and for which he has won a number of prizes in contests.

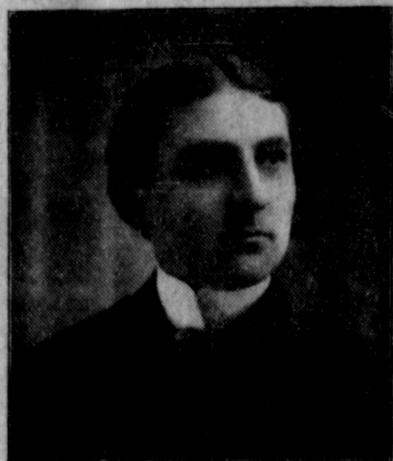

MR. CHARLES HORTON.

Like all the other "boys," Mr. Horton is a Paducah boy. He has had a good course of training in the clothing business with some of the leading local clothing establishments. Genial, courteous and attentive, he has a big number of friends in every circle. He will be in the clothing department and will be a factor in assisting Mr. Culley in building his business, as he knows the trade and knows his line.

MR. SALEM COPE.

Salem Cope is also making his bow to the business world. He is a son of M. G. Cope, a graduate of the High school, where he was very popular. ROY L. CULLEY.

Mr. Roy L. Culley, the founder of the business, is one of the most prominent of the younger business men in the city. He has been in the clothing business in Paducah for seventeen years, occupying important posts with the leading clothing establishments. He is a director in the Commercial club and his acquaintance extends over western Kentucky and Southern Illinois. He knows the business as he knows the people of this vicinity and his friends predict a great success for his enterprise.

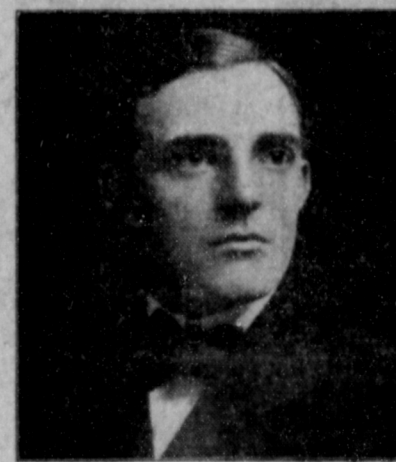

CHARLES RIEKE.

Mr. Charles Rieke will have charge of the office for the new firm. Mr. Rieke is one of the younger boys of the city. He is the son of Mrs. May Rieke, and has had several years of experience in the clothing business, and in commercial work, and is temperamentally fitted and endowed for the work. He will have nicely appointed offices, and a corps of assistants, and extends a cordial invitation to his friends to call to see him.

MR. HENRY SCHROAT.

Mr. Schroat will have charge of the hat department. He brings to his work a record of nearly twenty years of experience, and marked success. He has been connected with some of the best houses in the south, in other cities, and in Paducah, and his taste in the selection of his lines is so appreciated that his friends usually leave the selection of their hats to Mr. Schroat's taste. He has a wide acquaintance in Paducah and vicinity and his friends are gratified to see his connection.

MR. GUY JONES.

Mr. Jones will assist Mr. Boulware in the furnishing department. He too is one of the younger "boys," and has shown marked ability and appreciation of his work. He has been connected with one of the leading local clothing houses for several years and is deservedly popular with a wide circle of friends. He will give special attention to the younger men and boys' clothing which his department is showing the representative lines of the leading makers in the country.

MR. EDWIN BROWN.

Edwin Brown is the son of Mr. Enoch Brown. His connection with the new firm is his "first appearance." He is a very popular young man, with a host of friends. He will be in the clothing department and has taken an interest in the new firm befitting an older head. He is anxious to show his friends the ideal shopping store of Paducah.

Greetings to the Public from New Firm

We greet you today, at the beginning of our career, with a most cordial and sincere invitation to visit our new store and also inspect the merchandise we have selected to meet the approval of a people we are proud to serve.

In assembling our stocks we had recourse to the best markets the world affords, and each line of goods was selected with care and taste by men who have made such things a life's work.

These men, who will assist in building this business, are well and favorably known to you.

We are all home boys and are enthusiastic about our new store, and confident of its future.

But we want to share our enthusiasm with you. We want an opportunity to show you how carefully we have planned for your convenience and the thought we have put into selecting things that bid for your approval.

The policy of the business will be absolute integrity; a dollar in value for a dollar in money, and the striving at all times to give you all that is possible in value so you will say of us "There is nothing too good for their customers."

We shall strive earnestly to make this store an ideal shopping place in every detail, and to evidence to you "when it comes from Culley's you know it is right."

Come in to see us in passing—come in any time, you will always be made welcome.
